

The Eureka Formula.

Model Management

We provide a platform where researchers can securely store, manage, share and publish research models.

Model Execution

End-users across industries can search, access and directly execute 3rd party models to solve technical problems.

Data & Model Commercialization

Generate a new source of revenue for researchers who can specify a fee for end-user access to their models.

Research Collaboration

End-users can combine multiple models to create unique solutions that are tailored to their specific needs.

Join Our Mission.

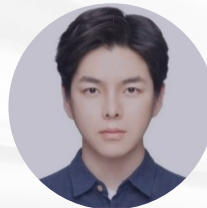

Our team brings together a combined 40+ years of industry and research experience, with expertise in digital transformation, modeling & simulation, and process management.

We are looking for Professors, directors of research groups, and technology transfer executives in academic institutions who would like to join us to transform the way research collaboration and technology transfer occurs.
